Otto Miller of 7755 Green St. has arrived safely in France.

H. G. Haraldsen, 7743 Fielding Ave., Painter and Decorator, all branches; hardwood finishing floors a specialty.

John W. Eckert and son, 702 W. 81st St., entertained Mr. Edward J. Eckert, his brother, of the Great Lakes Training Station and five other out-of-town jackies Saturday. Mr. Eckert met the boys at the depot, with an auto, and after taking them on a sightseeing trip through the city, then brought them to the home of his sister, Mrs. August Doll, 1329 W. 97th Pl. After spending a few hours there, they returned to the home of Mrs. Wm. Eckert (his mother) in time for a chicken dinner. The evening was spent in music and singing until the boys were taken back to the train.

We are sorry to hear that Mr. Patrick McGrath of Auburn Park has left us three months ago and is on his way to France. We all wish him a lucky journey.

We are very sorry to hear that Mrs. Weber, 7828 Emerald Ave., was seriously injured in an automobile accident downtown. We sincerely hope that Mrs. Weber will soon recover.

The Jolly Jr. Girls' Club held its semi-annual election of officers at the home of Miss Rose Northrup, 6159 Artesian Ave. The following members were elected officers: President, Miss Bernadette Phee; Vice-Pres., Miss Mildred Harrison; Treas., Miss Clare Tiess; Sec'y, Miss Geraldine Meschke.

Mrs. A. Sweeney of 7943 Sangamon St., is spending a week in Montreal, Canada.

Mrs. George Laurens, 7707 Morgan St., has been spending her vacation at Paw Paw Lake.

Mr. C. W. Crawford of 7749 Green St. was in Chatfield, Minn., last week.

Sunday is now a real day of rest. Sunday pleasure trips in the family auto will hereafter be a thing of the past. Be patriotic; save gasoline.

Take your cleaning, pressing or repairing to Gus Bovik's Tailor Shop, 7822 Halsted St., for best results.

No Ban on "Kids" Toys

Buying Early and Cutting Off Useless Gifts to Adults Urged

Don't give useless Christmas gifts to grownups. Don't wait until the last week to do your shopping, because the retail stores have agreed not to put on any extra help for the "holiday rush." Carry home your own Christmas presents when you buy them. The stores have promised the war industries board to restrict deliveries and to induce customers to do this wherever possible.

If you, the gift purchaser and giver, do your part, announced the Council of National Defense through the Chicago Association of Commerce, and the above suggestions if loyally and faithfully put into effect throughout the country will make possible a continuance of the holiday custom without endangering the national interests thereby. The statement issued by the Association of Commerce came on top of the decision of the Council of National Defense to amend the original "No Christmas Shopping" plan.

In explaining its modification of the Christmas buying restrictions the council said that it had been advised in conference with representatives of the leading industries and retail interests that the manufacture and delivery to points of sale of goods used for Christmas selling, especially relating to toys, have been substantially completed. For these reasons the council decided that there would be nothing gained by depriving the children of the nation of their visit from Santa Claus and the purchase of toys will be compatible with patriotic shopping during the coming holiday season.

In order to make possible compliance with the government request that no additional help shall be put in service for the holiday rush, Chicago retailers have issued an important appeal to the public to do as much as possible of their Christmas buying in September. The Council of National Defense will cooperate in carrying out the suggested measures, it was announced today.

"It looks to organized business bodies of every nature and throughout the country actively to join in the movement as providing means whereby that cooperation between the government and the people can be had which alone will permit the continuance of holiday business in such form, on such scale and by such methods as are consistent with the national welfare," said the announcement. "This announcement is definitely conditional upon loyal and thorough cooperation in spirit and in letter on the part of sellers and buyers throughout the country."

Save Your Eyes

By Dr. P. O. Peemueller, Optometrist
(All rights reserved)

Man's eyesight is the most precious gift from the Almighty. The loss of sight is equal to living death. Once lost no power on earth can restore it.

Should it not be logical and prudent that we take very good care of such vital organs as the eyes? Still it is a surprising fact that as a general rule the eyes are being greatly neglected. But for our own benefit we should try to conserve our sight as long as possible.

Eye trouble does not always mean poor eyesight. The most serious troubles occur when eyesight is very keen. Some of nature's danger signals for eye defects are:

Distressing headaches.
Sharp pains in the eyeball.
Dull pains at the base of the brain.
Pressure at the top of the head.
Eyes smart and burn.
Dizzy spells.
Squinting and frowning caused by bright light.
Eyes water.
Nervousness, especially when doing close work.
Double vision.
Tilting of head to one side.
Eyes feel tired.
Type blurs when reading fine print.

As my today's topic deals with conservation of eyesight, it is natural that I should mention the children's eyes. Here we can do something preventative. Many parents will erroneously not allow their children to wear glasses, thinking that once started they will have to wear them all their lives. That idea is wrong. If a child has defective eyesight and is fitted with proper glasses, the eye is given a chance to develop, as the excessive strain is taken from it, the abnormality may be outgrown and the glasses may be discarded later. Besides that the boy or girl was given a better chance to acquire the necessary knowledge to be on par with others in the battle of life.

It might also be interesting to know that tests made in schools all over the country show that one child in every three has defective vision. Another fact is that 70 per cent of the backward, balky and lazy school children could be made into good pupils if their eyes were taken care of.

War Exposition September 2 to 15

You've read a lot about modern warfare. You've listened to speeches about it; seen pictures of it. But now your government is giving you an opportunity to actually SEE modern warfare, in all of its grim, physical, mud-caked reality.

For on September 2nd, and until September 15th, your government will hold a great War Exposition on the Lake Front. Here, on the peaceful acres of Grant Park, it will reproduce Europe's battlefields in graphic miniature—their barbed wire trenches, listening posts, dug-outs, artillery emplacements and first aid stations—for you to inspect in bullet-proof security.

We might speak of this Exposition as a great show. But your government does not ask you to go in a show-going spirit. It asks you to go primarily as a duty of good citizenship—that you may be better able to comprehend the war—and better able to play your part in helping to win it.

Ten of the Many Tremendous Features

1. Twenty carloads of War Trophies—captured by American, British, Canadian, French, Italian, and Belgian troops—the war implements of every fighting nation, from helmets to hob-nailed marching boots, from gas masks to gas bombs, from trench daggers and clubs to Big Berthas, from periscopes to airplanes.

2. "No Man's Land" reproduced with uncanny fidelity; its barbed-wire entanglements, front line trenches, dug-outs, pill-boxes, first aid stations, etc.

3. Training Camp Activities, showing the making of a soldier, from raw material to finished product.

4. Official U. S. Government Motion Pictures, showing our boys in training and in action at the front; also troops of Allies.

5. Naval Demonstrations at Lake Front.

6. American and British Air Squadrons in exhibition flights.

7. Exhibits of U. S. Food and Fuel Administrations, U. S. Shipping Board, Emergency Fleet Corporation, American Red Cross, Y. M. C. A., Knights of Columbus, Salvation Army and all other branches of war relief and war service.

8. Speakers of international prominence, representing this and allied countries.

9. Military music by U. S. Army and Navy, including Great Lakes Band; also musical organizations from abroad.

10. Special Features; including large Choral Singing Societies; nationality groups.

The People's Show

Not a money-making venture, but an official U. S. Government show. A number of patriotic citizens raised a fund to guarantee the government against any loss. If there is any profit, after the expenses have been paid, it will go into the United States Treasury.

Candidate for Legislature

Edward B. Lucius, Regular Republican Candidate on the Loyalist Platform for Representative in the General Assembly from the 11th Senatorial District, is well qualified for the office he seeks.

He is a graduate of the University of Michigan, of the Law Department of the Northwestern University, and has practiced law at the Chicago Bar for the past seven years.

He has lived in our community for 26 years, has always taken an active interest in civic affairs, and knows the needs of the 11th District from direct contact with our problems.

Our District, composed of intelligent and enlightened citizens, should be represented by active, industrious, progressive, forward-looking men. Mr. Lucius is just the man to fill the bill.

He advocates a Constitutional Convention—that we may have a new Constitution without delay; Revision of the Revenue Laws; Ratification of the Prohibition Amendment; Equal Suffrage for Men and Women; Reform in Court Procedure and any and all legislation that will bring all the resources of our great state to the aid of our nation in this great national crisis.

Republicans wishing to send the highest type of men to Springfield as Representatives of the 11th District should vote for Mr. Lucius on Primary Day, September 17th.

Mr. Lucius resides with his wife and child at 7520 Stewart Ave.

Conservation of Credit

Not only should the goods and labor of the Nation be conserved for the prosecution of the war; the credit of the Nation must be conserved for the same purpose.

This is being impressed upon the banks, and it should be impressed upon the people, too—the borrowers from banks.

All of the banks of the country are being urged by the Federal Reserve Board to curtail their loans. They are urged to loan money only where the borrower is going to use it in some way that will aid in or contribute to winning the war.

This policy is not aimed at hampering legitimate business. It aims to help win the war, which is the best thing possible for business. It simply means that money wanted for nonessential purposes should be refused. Let the nonessentials wait until the war is finished. The Government needs the money to carry on the war. The farmers, the men and the industries engaged in war work or engaged in producing things needed for the efficiency both of our soldiers and of our home people, need the credit to carry on their enterprises.

Merchants should not borrow money to stock up on luxuries or things that the people should not buy at this time.

No one should borrow money now to spend needlessly or extravagantly. Unnecessary building, unneeded articles, unessential enterprises should all await the ending of the war.

The Federal Reserve Board points out that in the interest of successful Government financing it would be much better for the banks to hold credit within reasonable bounds by intelligent cooperation rather than to discourage borrowing by charging high interest rates. The people should cooperate with the Government and the banks in this policy of conserving credit and curtailing borrowing except where the money, directly or indirectly, helps win the war, helps our soldiers who are risking their lives for our country.

War Profits Tax and Excess Profits Tax—The Difference

"By a war-profits tax we mean a tax upon profits in excess of those realized before the war.

"By an excess-profits tax we mean a tax upon profits in excess of a given return upon capital.

"The theory of awar-profits tax is to tax profits due to the war.

"The theory of a war-profits tax is is to tax profits over and above a given return on capital. The excess-profits tax falls less heavily on big business than on small business, because big business is generally overcapitalized and small businesses are often undercapitalized.

"The war-profits tax would tax all war profits at one high rate; the excess-profits tax does and for safety must tax all excess profits at lower and graduated rates."

The above extract from Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo's testimony before the House Ways and Means Committee gives his differentiation between war-profits and excess-profits taxes and explains his position in urging upon Congress an excess-profits tax with an alternative war-profits tax in the forthcoming revenue legislation.

To the average citizen Secretary McAdoo's position seems well taken. Most small and local corporations are capitalized at an actual valuation. Many of the very large corporations are greatly overcapitalized; the stock of some of them has been repeatedly watered. With only an excess-profits tax a corporation earning 10 per cent on grossly watered capital will pay the same tax as another corporation not overcapitalized earning 10 per cent on the real, actual valuation of the money and property invested in its business. The profits of the first corporation might be 30 per cent on its actual valuation, and it is to cover such cases that a war-profits tax is urged.

As many of these large corporations are engaged in Government work and drawing huge sums from the United States it seems particularly just that they should pay taxes on the same actual basis as corporations not overcapitalized. A tax that taxes equally a 10 per cent profit on watered capital and a 10 per cent profit on unwatered capital is not equal and uniform and scarcely just.

Dry Cleaning Is a Sanitary Process

Save Winter Clothes From Moths

A Trip Through a Licensed Plant Will Prove the Value of Its Service

There is no class of business men who take a greater interest in the matter of service than the cleaners and dyers of Chicago, who are licensed by the city. Their plants, owned and operated by the firms themselves, are models of sanitary establishments. They are required to maintain fire-proof conditions, to employ licensed engineers, and to provide every safeguard.

All Fabrics May Be Cleaned

The naphtha cleaning process, which is used by these concerns, is the only method by which the most delicate laces, silks, satins and other fabrics can be dry cleaned without damage. Even feathered maribou, ostrich plumes can be cleaned without the loss of a single curl and without injury. Naphtha does not affect the color, form or shape of materials as water will. Even an accordeon plaited skirt, going through the process, will retain its original creases during every stage. You can therefore send your most highly prized garments to a licensed dry cleaner, confident that the color will not fade or run, that the shape will not be changed, and that the fabric will not shrink. They will be returned to you looking as near like new as their original condition will permit.

Draperies, curtains, sun parlor curtains, couch covers, table covers, scarfs and furs can all be thoroughly renovated, and their utility extended, and the same is true of carpets and rugs.

Special attention should be given to furs. They can be dry cleaned. No other process will protect them from moths, restore the natural sheen and make them look like new.

A Trip Through a Plant

A trip through one of these establishments is most interesting. It will prove to you that the dry cleaning and dyeing industry is a high grade business, conducted along scientific and hygienic lines; that the treatment of clothing requires a high grade of intelligence and ability as well as a knowledge of methods and fabrics.

When a suit is brought into one of these establishments by the owner or a driver it is given a number for identification, which it retains throughout the plant. The clothes are first searched—a process which often discovers money, jewelry, other articles of value and letters; these are all returned to the owners.

They are taken to the dry cleaning room, where they are placed in a huge washer and are given a naphtha bath.

The garments are then placed in a large centrifugal wringer. This machine removes all the naphtha—and does not damage, tear or mar in any way the most delicate fabric.

The next step is to place the clothes in the drying machine. This is an enormous affair, which is properly heated. A powerful fan blows the heat through the garments so effectively that not even the slightest trace of the odor of the naphtha remains in them. Smaller wringers and washers are used for cleaning gloves.

After the garments have gone through these stages of the process they are taken to the pressing room, where, if necessary, additional cleaning is done. Then they are pressed so carefully that when they are returned to you it will require no stretching of your imagination to welcome them as you would a new dress, gown, suit or coat.

Equal care is given both men's and women's garments. The varied character of the latter requires infinitely greater skill, and no effort is spared to obtain the result desired. In cleaning men's clothes the old method of sponging and pressing by hand has been discontinued—because it was not uniformly resultful and was unsanitary. The clothes, after they come from the naphtha room, are placed on a pressing machine, through the pads of which live steam is forced. The steam is a germ killer. The pads are changed at least once a month—thus assuring cleanliness.

The Management Takes Great Pleasure in Presenting

D. W. Griffith's Latest Master Photodrama

"THE GREAT LOVE"

The cast includes those great stars who gained renown in that stupendous spectacular story, "The Birth of a Nation" and "Hearts of the World."

Lillian Gish Henry B. Walthall
Robert Harron George Fawcett
Rosemary Theby
ALSO
QUEEN ALEXANDRA (Herself)
AND MANY OTHER TITLED WOMEN

The photoplay deals with Young America in the war and with the work which is carried on by the nobility of Great Britain. Added to the fascinating story of Jim Young, of Youngstown, Pa., who is aroused to such a pitch of righteous anger at the atrocities of the Germans in Belgium that he goes to Canada and enlists in the British army, you will have an opportunity which nothing but the war could have brought about—that of seeing on the screen such personages as the Dowager Queen Alexandra, the Princess of Monaco, Miss Elizabeth Asquith, daughter of the former Prime Minister of England, Lady Diana Manners, and others whose names you have seen time and time again in the newspapers of the day. It's mighty interesting.

Enid Bennett

In

"The Marriage Ring"

Does a Marriage Ring Really Mean Anything?

It counts for you and for me and other "regular folks," but how about the man and woman who are as far apart as the poles in temperament? One of them, say, is almost a Puritan, the other a denizen on the fringe of the underworld—how about them? Does the ring bind in their case?

Have you ever been to Hawaii? If you haven't you've missed one of the joys of life. The languorous atmosphere of the tropics, the tinkle of the ukulele, the sound of the rolling surf upon the white sands,—all these serve as the background for this fascinating tale with Enid Bennett as the heroine. Married to a brute of a man who turns out also to be a traitor to his country, Anne Mertons goes to the islands, and there she meets a real man and learns to love him. But the husband turns up, and the dramatic climax is one which will hold you spellbound with interest.

Douglas Fairbanks

In His Latest Success

"Bound in Morocco"

Douglas Fairbanks certainly does get the original titles for his pictures—and after you have seen this one you will agree that they have always hit the nail on the head, too. You see the story is laid in a picturesque Moroccan village, bordering on the Sahara desert, with Frank Campeau as the villainous leader of a gang of Armenian outlaws and cutthroats, and Pauline Curley as the helpless little girl whom "Doug" rescues just at the psychological moment. Of course the star does more of his "stunts" and equally of course you will hold your breath while he performs acrobatic feats that make the average circus performer look like thirty cents in German money. We won't tell you another bit of the story.

In order that we may maintain the high standard of our program and in keeping with the increase in the cost of all pictures of high merit, we are forced to establish the same price for our Sunday Matinee that we charge at the evening performance. The price is 17c for adults and 11c for children, which is nominal when you remember that we give extra pictures at the matinee. Most first class picture houses have been charging this price on Sunday for the last six months. We held off as long as possible but will have to swing in line.

"RIDDLE GAWNE"
Artcraft—5 Reels

This is an adaptation of Charles Alden Seltzer's story, "The Vengeance of Jefferson Gawne," which ran in Argosy last Fall. It is a story of revenge, bitter and unswerving of purpose, with William S. Hart as the man who seeks to punish the murderer of his younger brother. In so doing he meets the one and only girl, who turns out to be the daughter of one of the henchmen of the hunted man. How Gawne finds and punishes the murderer, and what happens afterwards makes a typically realistic Hart picture, which is enough said.

A Letter to Our Patrons

Dear Cosmo Fan,

The announcement that D. W. Griffith's first picture production for Artcraft, "The Great Love," a remarkable photoplay in which Queen Alexandra and many women of the British nobility are pictured, is to be presented at our playhouse Monday and Tuesday, has caused a profound sensation among our clientele.

This is the first time that the great productions of Mr. Griffith, the man who created "The Birth of a Nation," "Intolerance," "Hearts of the World" and other screen triumphs, are available to the general public at regular prices, and for the first time also, Mr. Griffith's famous stars, including Lillian Gish, Henry B. Walthal, Robert Harron, George Fawcett and others, are seen in Artcraft pictures.

"The Great Love" is in every respect a splendid photoplay of love, war and national devotion to the service of country and world democracy. It is a production fully up to the high standard of artistry for which the name of Griffith stands and for which he has become famous in the field of the silent drama.

We know of no cinema production that surpasses in beauty and popular interest those bearing the Griffith-Artcraft trade mark and we recommend "The Great Love" to you with the firm conviction that you will acclaim it one of the very best spectacles ever displayed at our theatre.

Hoping to see you at the premier, we beg to remain,

Yours sincerely,
GEO. M. LAING,
Manager.

CHARMING

Elsie Ferguson

"THE DANGER MARK"

Can the Power of Love Overcome the Force of Heredity?

What do you suppose you would do if you had inherited from a dissipated ancestor a craving for alcoholic liquors? How would you satisfy that craving, presuming that you were a wealthy, refined young woman, with no indecently intoxicated ancestor to become and yet with that strange longing in your veins which had to be satisfied in some way. Geraldine Seagrave was such a person, and the unique way in which she accomplished her end is but one of the many intensely interesting and odd things about this picture, which is adapted from the novel of the same name by Robert W. Chambers. Elsie Ferguson is the star than whom there is no better.

William S. Hart

In His Latest and Most Thrilling Success

"Riddle Gawne"

They called him "Riddle" because he had only one object in life—to "get" a man. He had nursed his hatred through a score of years. Now, when they saw him face to face with his man they knew that hell had come to earth. His scalch was over for there stood the man who had murdered his brother, the man who had sought to defame the only woman he had ever loved. Riddle saw RED and that meant light. Don't miss this picture—that's all.

Percival G. Baldwin Should Be Returned

To the State Senate By the Voters of the 11th Senatorial District

PERCIVAL G. BALDWIN

In this hour of crises, our public office holders must be men of unquestioned loyalty and experienced in statesmanship.

Senator Percival G. Baldwin's record in the Senate has been one of activity and attentiveness to duty. He has fathered and enacted more important legislation than any senator that ever represented this district.

He was Chairman of the Committee on Insurance, one of the most important committees of the Senate, and was a member of every important Senate committee.

He was appointed a member of a Special committee of three from the Senate, to confer with the Governor to work out the Administrative Code legislation.

He fathered and had passed the New School Law for the City of Chicago, giving Chicago the most modern and up-to-date School Law of any of the large cities of the country.

He introduced and had enacted the Cook County Bankers' Bill, placing all Private Banks under State supervision.

He introduced and had enacted the Bail Bond Bill, which makes it a criminal offense to swear falsely as to the qualifications of sureties on bail bonds.

He was chosen by the firemen of the City of Chicago to take direct charge of their legislation in the Senate, and handled successfully and secured the passage of the Firemen's Pension Fund legislation.

He was present at every session of the Senate during his term of office, and took an active part in all important legislation.

This is the largest district in the City of Chicago, and Senator Baldwin is representative of the high standard of the constituency of this district.

Republicans should re-nominate Senator Percival G. Baldwin by voting for him at the primary, Wednesday, September 11, 1918.

A Worthy Candidate For County Clerk

Charles G. Blake, Candidate for the Republican nomination for County Clerk on the Loyalist Platform, is a successful business man by training, experience and achievement.

In 1892 he established the granite manufacturing business of Charles G. Blake & Co. in Chicago, whose works are located at 67th St. and Ellis Ave.

Mr. Blake has always taken a live interest in public affairs. He was elected Village Trustee for two terms before Morgan Park's annexation to Chicago, serving as a member of the Board of Local Improvements, and on the Committees on Finance, Water and Electric Light, Streets and Alleys, and Transportation.

He has always been in Improvement Association work, and organized and fought to a successful termination, a movement to reduce telephone rates in Morgan Park. He is a director and chairman of the Investment Committee of the Calumet Trust & Savings Bank, and has been a member of the Chicago Stock Exchange for more than 20 years.

He is a thirty-second degree Mason and a Knight Templar, an Odd Fellow and a member of the Municipal Art League, the Chicago Architectural Club and the Hamilton Club.

Other organizations in which Mr. Blake has served as an officer or director, are the Morgan Park Military Academy, the Northwestern Illinois Poultry Association, Ridge County Club, Business Men's Association of Morgan Park, Boy Scouts, Apollo Club, Lincoln Park Church and Church of the Mediator, and Home Defense Company, and Chicago Tennis League.

Mr. Blake is married and resides at Morgan Park with his family. His eldest son, who has just reached the age of 18, is in the United States Marine Corps.

The varied business activities of Mr. Blake make him an ideal candidate for the office to which he aspires, that of County Clerk, and Republicans will make no mistake by voting for him on Primary Day, September 11th.

ARE YOU RUPTURED?

Don't Suffer Longer with a Torturesome TRUSS or SLIPPING PAD

BEWARE of drug store trusses. No legitimate physician or surgeon will send his patient to a drug store to be fitted with a truss. Why? Because it takes years of study to become competent in this science. To substitute is criminal, but is often done by druggists. The needs of each patient are carefully taken into consideration when

Dear Sir:

Our little boy had a bad rupture and in fact the doctor said it was one of the worst he had ever seen. We spent a good deal of money with no result. After getting your Wonder Truss we saw a change at once. The boy is getting along fine and we cannot praise your truss enough and think it a perfect Godsend.

Dear Sir:

The truss has given me perfect satisfaction, and while I have had little experience with trusses, I believe yours has no equal, as I have been told by those who have had experience that no truss would hold, but I find yours is perfect. Am well pleased, and quite sure that it cannot be beaten.
